Religious Activities

Many students spent Sabbath afternoons this year participating in community services. Working through the Senior Service Center, they patched roofs, cleaned house, and did whatever else needed to be done for Senior Citizens and disabled people. Others joined the "Big brother, Big Sister" program, and spent their time reading Bible stories, playing games, and just talking with community children who needed an older brother or sister. Another student group went to Rainier State School in Buckley, where they visited the mentally retarded and cerebral palsy wards. Volunteers at Mary Bridge Children's Hospital in Tacoma cheered apprehensive surgical patients and lonely children and also helped care for babies.

ACT Teams were active this year, presenting music and personal witness in Adventist churches throughout the Washington Conference.

All of these "Outreach" programs proved to be worthwhile. While those who were visited received aid, the students also appreciated the chance to spend the Sabbath hours constructively—learning to give of themselves and their time to others.

A mass exodus of students signalled the beginning of a search for fresh air, exercise, and a unique contact in the outdoors.

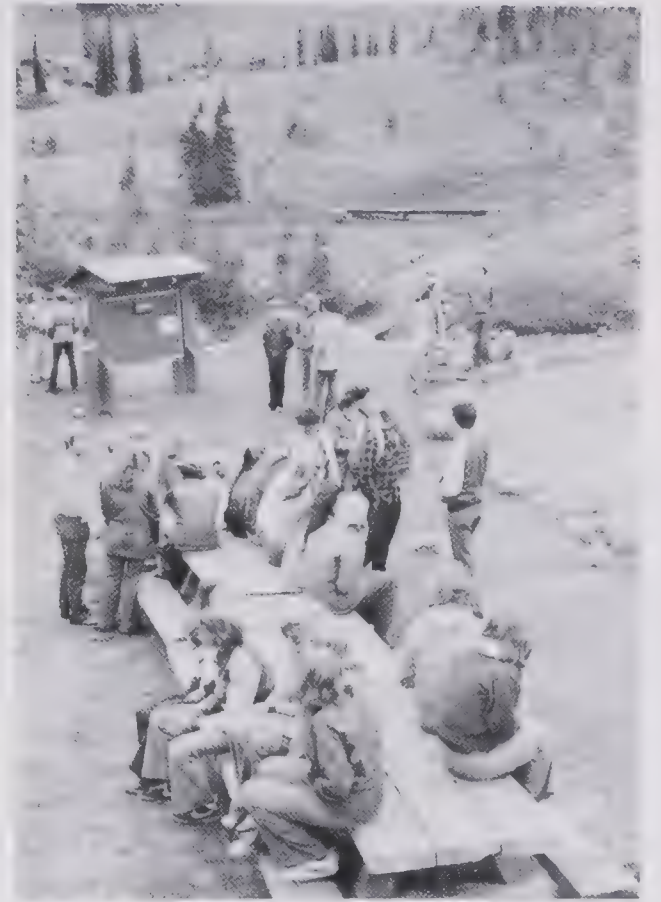

Near Chinook Pass, hikers viewed early Fall wilderness, and experienced a typical deluge of rain. Chilled, but filled with a good supper, students welcomed the signal to return home to warm rooms.

Officers of student organizations profited from the experience and advice of others in Leadership seminars at Sunset Lake and Camp Mivoden. Experimental programs in Bible study, diet, and fellowship enabled students to evaluate alternatives to their usual program.

On October 8, Camp Orkila, A YMCA camp on Orcas Island, echoed with girls' voices; the next weekend lower tones could be heard as busloads of boys found their accommodations. Some got panelled cabins, others froze in open-air shelters. Deer, fruit trees, bathrooms labelled MEN, dives into frigid water, rowboat excursions to the island, and an eery game of sardines all combined to make memories.

Outings

Fall Festival

Picture Rainier Auditorium filled with genuine Auburn Academy hillbillies. They come for a night on the town, a look at the bright lights. Straw hats, temporarily freckled faces, and hard-times apparel show up in abundance.

Booths, set up and attended by clubs, departments, and other organizations, beckon them to part with their pennies in return for the big chance—skill turned to great profit. Prizes are won—edibles, chewables, blowables. The more daring risk their lives in the Death Leap. The occasional sound of the bell indicates that yet another he-man has successfully demonstrated his brute strength to his admiring, pig-tailed companion. Settlement of longtime grudges is easy at the dunking booth. Feuding countrymen can avenge themselves by merely drenching their antagonists.

Footsore hillbillies relax and view turn-of-the-decade movies, munch on vege-stew and bread, or just marvel at the variety of humanity passing by.

Fall Festival—it's the stuff that hillbilly dreams are made of.

Z.K. Open House

Z.K. Open House gave Auburn Academy students a chance to venture beyond the limits of their corner of the world for an evening. With the theme, "It's a Small, Small World" and a little imagination, we visited Europe, the Orient, Hawaii, Mexico, and Africa. Creating the illusion of world travel was a program of song, storytelling, an oriental dance, and, afterwards, a tour through a miraculously transformed Nelson Hall. (It might be said here that getting the dorm back to normal was also a miracle). Following the dorm tour, refreshments typical of the countries we had "visited" were served in the cafeteria.

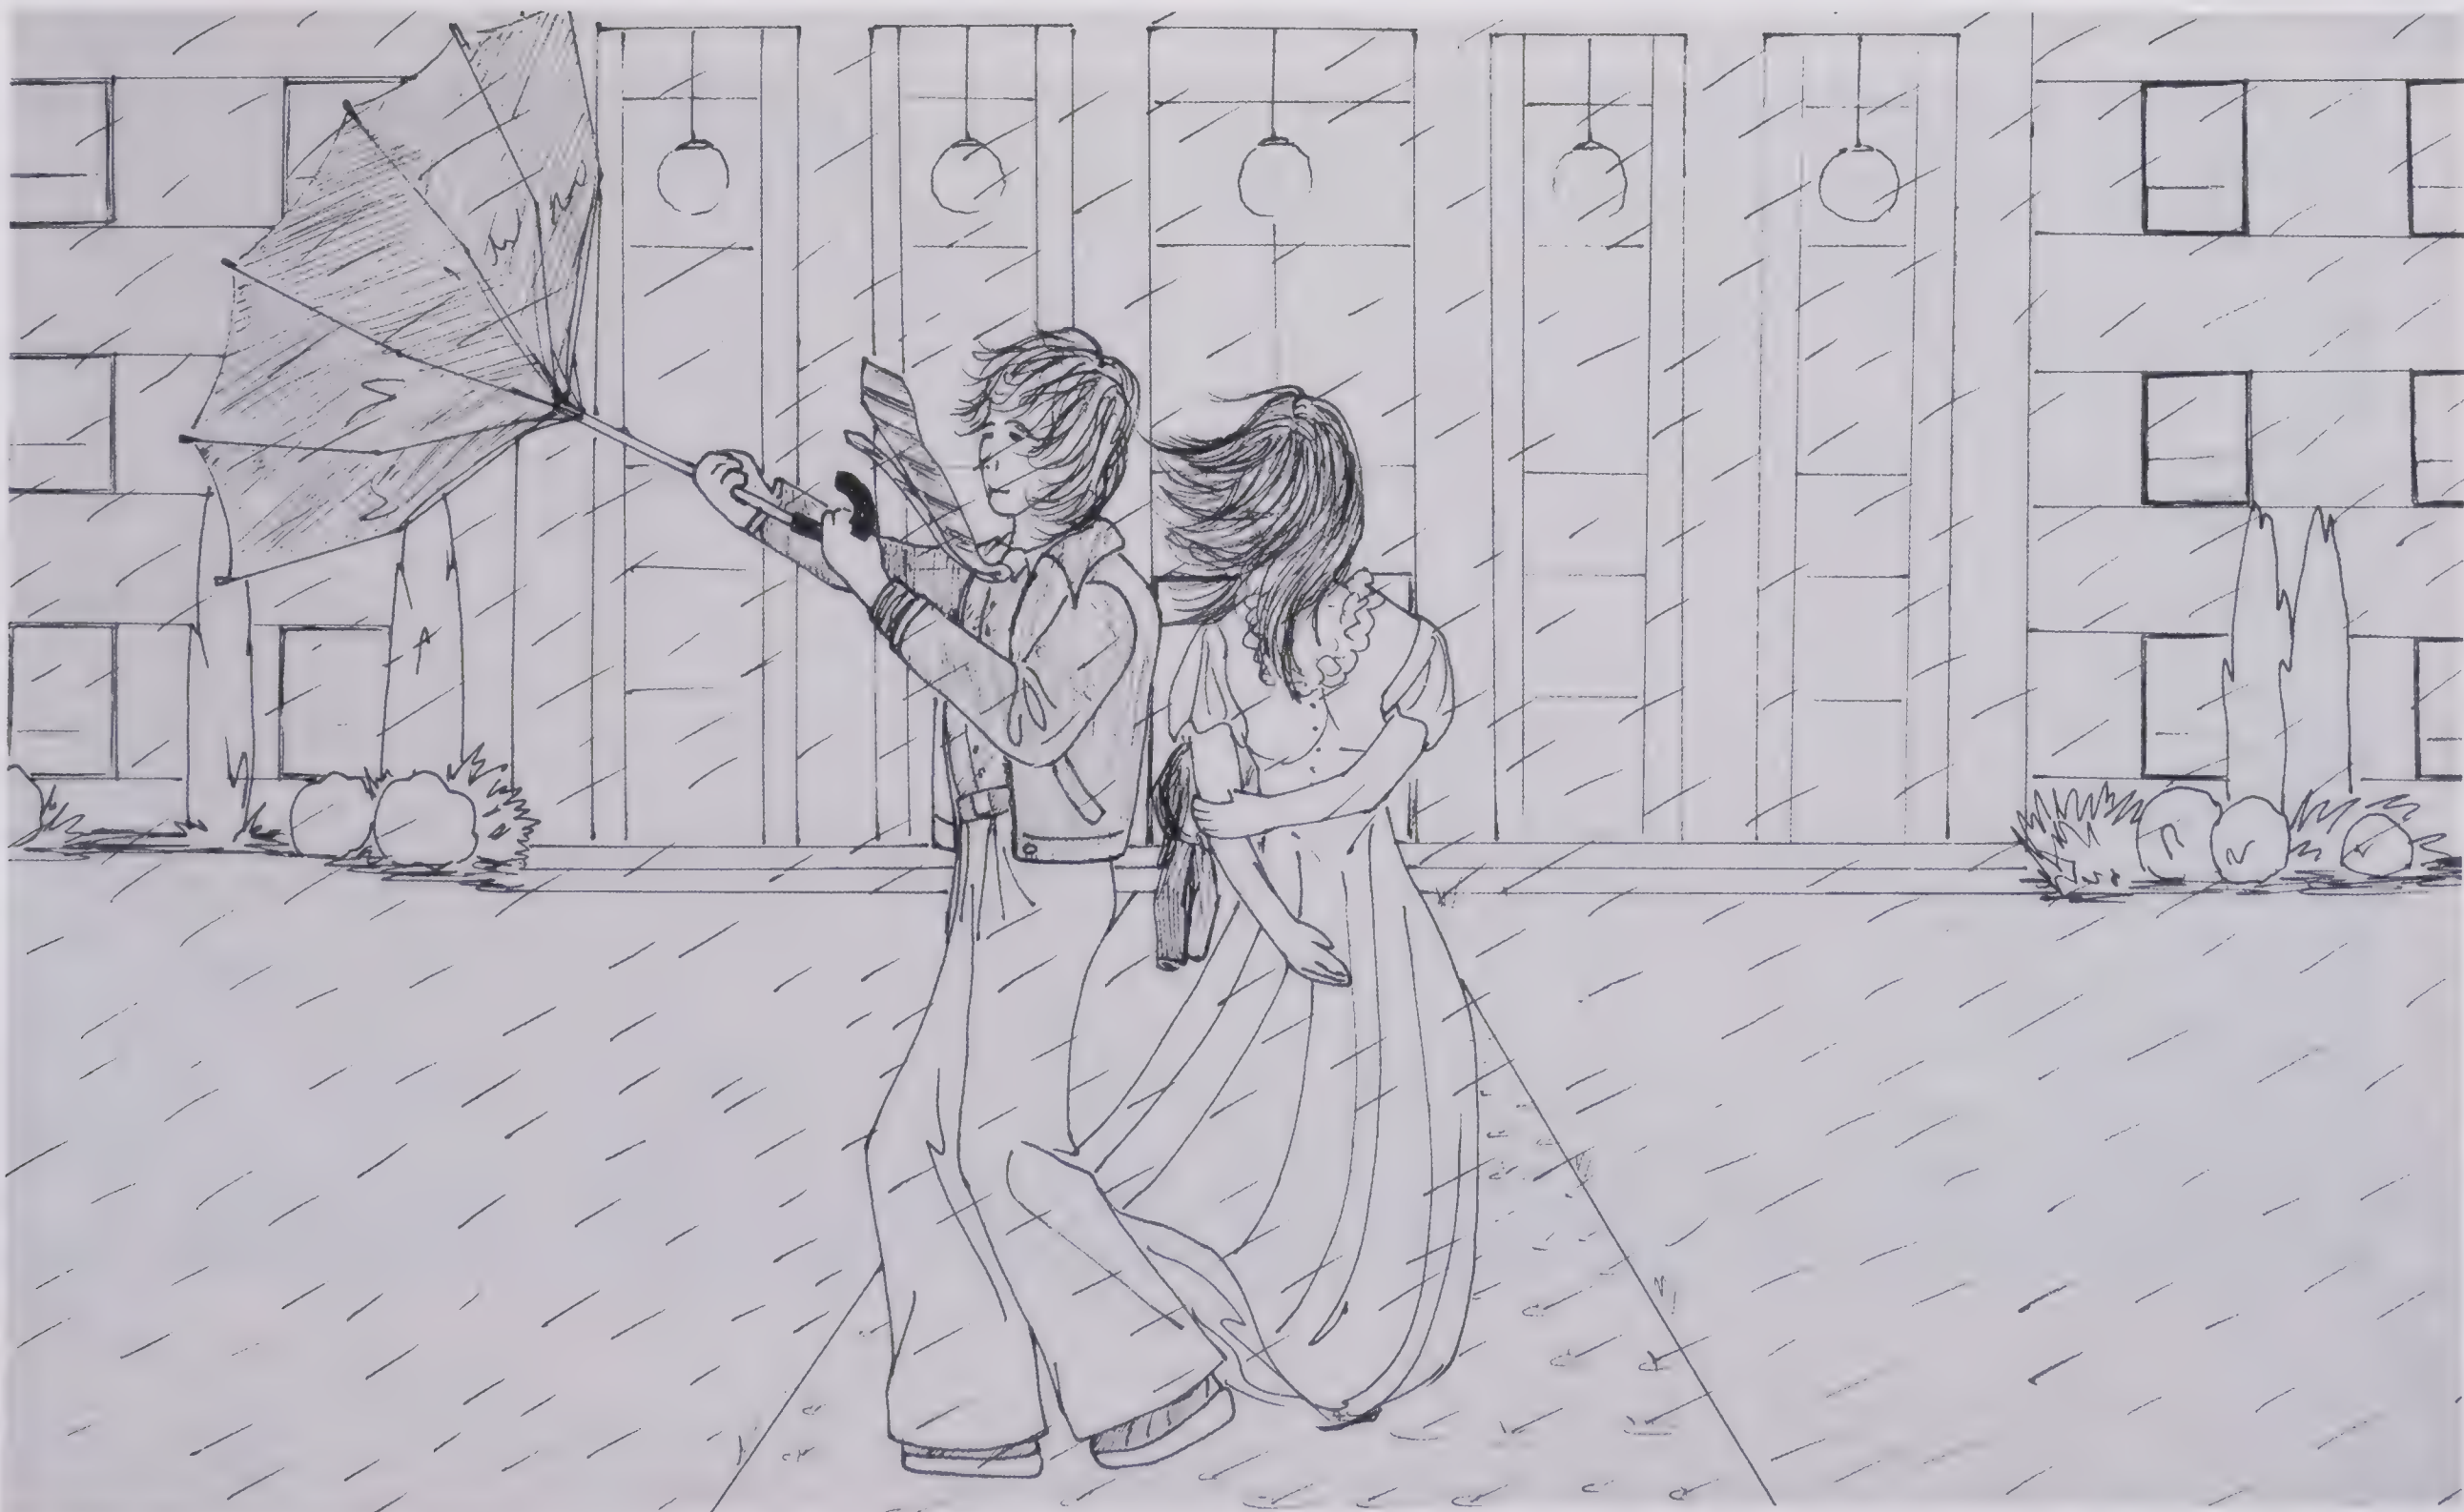

In a cafeteria decorated for Christmas, and with a holiday menu, ASAAA Courtesy Banquet was the finale for the annual Courtesy Week. Five girls and five guys previously chosen by the student senate were presented roses and boutonnieres in recognition of their habits of courtesy. Some other students received cash prizes for their courtesy posters displayed in the hall during Courtesy Week. Following dinner and the awards, Mr. Bob Ellis from Bush School in Seattle presented slides from his bicycle trip around the world.

Dear Mr. Krenz:

Our records indicate that we still have not received your initial payment of $10,000.00 for this year's yearbook contract with Herff Jones Yearbooks, Inc. Nor have we received the mid-term payment of $15,000.00. Since your final payment of $10,000.00 is now one week overdue, we are anxiously awaiting your payment of the entire outstanding balance of $35,000.00.

If it were not for your previous record in meeting your financial obligations, we might conclude that you were taking off for Brazil and would hold up delivery of your yearbooks. However, we have allowed the annuals to be shipped and are, in good faith, looking forward to your prompt payment.

We are looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely, Joe "The Crusher" Kozlowsky

Nelson Hall

No one can leave Nelson Hall at the end of the school year without certain indelible memories. Dorm life means different things to each individual, but there are some experiences that are common to us all.

Who can forget the showers? Those who are unable to do a backbend or other gymnastic stunts find it difficult to wash their hair because of the height of the shower heads. Getting one's laundry into an empty washer and then keeping track of it is a skill which requires careful timing and repeated trips to the laundry room. And of course the paging system is familiar to all—"Carrohl Snogghgrahhss, dezzk pleezhe" (Who??). There are always the "bell happy" monitors. "BEEP, BEEP!—Worship will start in four minutes and 27 seconds—BEEP!"

Remember the unbelievable number of girls crowded into the phone booth, the successful and unsuccessful attempts at sneaking from one room to another during study hall, eating popcorn while studying (all popped "legally" in the kitchenette, of course), and those surprise parties in the closed lobby? A familiar scene was mail time, and all the eager pushing and shoving that went with it. The poor mail distributor gets blamed for everything . . .

"If I don't get a letter today, you're in big trouble!"

"I just want a letter; I'll read ANYBODY'S, Just put one in my box!"

Dorm life has its drawbacks, but it's a place where lasting friendships are formed. After all, who can complain about having friends only steps away?

Dear Mom,

Now that I'm in the dorm I am finally learning to do all the things you've always done for me. It was tough at first, but I've gotten many helpful tips from other guys. I'm not very good at ironing yet, but I've found that if you put your jeans under your mattress and sleep on them at night, most of the wrinkles come out, and they even have a crease.

Doing laundry isn't a problem at all. When I run out of laundry soap, shampoo works just as well. And when a guy gets hungry at night, he can just go to the room next door and buy about anything he wants—at a somewhat higher price, of course. By the way, could you send me some more money?

Thanks alot for the popcorn popper. We make pancakes, soup, and toast in it. I even made popcorn once. (I had to borrow the oil.)

I've been getting pretty good roomcheck scores. They've got really big closets here and I just throw everything in and nail the door shut.

Well, Mom, just wanted you to know I'm doing fine on my own. Send me cookies.

Love,
your Son

If we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord; so then, whether we live

"Those who are engaged in the work of preparing health foods . . .
